Ohio Democratic Convention.

COLUMBUS, May 31.—The State Democratic convention is to be held here on the 25th of July.

A Jury and the Jury System.

CHICAGO, May 31.—The new grand jury is investigating some remarkable charges made by the Post, and apparently well substantiated. It alleges they are that the late Sullivan-Tanford case was tried before a jury packed through the connivance of bailiffs, police officers, thieves, and police acting under instructions from Superintendent Hickey; that the mayor was concerned in the business and Goodenough his wicked partner in business. Him for this service the thieves and burglars received permission to ply their trade unmolested, and that they were ordered into repeating hands on election day, and under direction of the well known Crook ring systematically for the present city government; that Sullivan added them as a reward for their work for him, and that best these facts, which have been sworn to before the grand jury to-day, others of equal shocking and character are forthcoming.

Fires.

BALTIMORE, May 31.—A fire this morning destroyed the wholesale drug store of W. H. Bowen & Bros.; loss not known.

OCEOLA, Mich., May 30.—A fire this afternoon destroyed the sawmill, lumber mill, fair Block, and much lumber, all owned by Lindsay & Co.; loss, $150,000; insurance, $80,000.

Absurdly False.

NEW ORLEANS, May 30.—Gen. Wharton, in an interview concerning the statement in Gen. Butler's letter to Marshal Pitkin wherein it is charged that he had an understanding with Wayne McVeigh whereby he (Wharton) was to disburse money to the Packard legislature and assist in breaking up that body, in consideration of which he was to be U. S. Marshal, says the story is utterly and absurdly false.

Warmoth-Durand Nuptials.

Ex-Governor Warmoth was married to-day at New York to Miss Sallie Durand.

Struck by Lightning.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., 30.—Espy breaker, owned by the Lehigh Coal Company, Hanover township, was struck by lightning and burned this afternoon. Loss, $95,000; insurance, $20,000.

Silver Bill Vetoed.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 30.—Gov. Cullom today vetoed the bill to make silver coin a legal tender in this State, giving as his reasons that he does not believe it a wise measure in its financial aspect, or constitutional. He says he believes the general assembly merely meant to express a desire that Congress would remonetize the silver dollar. Should silver ever come to be at a discount it would flow to this State. If this bill were passed, and Illinois would assume the burden of a debased currency. It would not make money more plentiful, for it would expel an equal amount of better currency. It would not lighten but rather increase taxes; it would not help debtors, and the constitution of the United States and of the State would forbid its application to existing contracts heretofore made. The local currency of 1861 is evidence of the disadvantage of such a system in this State while other States do not adopt it. If coin remained unchanged in value this bill would have no effect, but it can not. Silver will not become more abundant, and that under this law would compel our people to take at par currency that is at a discount outside the State. Discussing the constitutional question, he says, it is repugnant to the State constitution, as it has retroacting effect. This bill also interferes with the power of Congress to regulate the value of money and to coin it, which unless conferred on the States are held to be exclusive. Moreover, Congress has decided that subsidiary silver coin shall be a legal tender for only five dollars. This bill attempts to go beyond and outside of that law. Congress had no intention of remitting this subject to State legislatures. Finally this is an experiment on too delicate a subject.

The Whereabouts of S. Bull.

CHICAGO, May 31.—A dispatch received this morning at Gen. Sheridan's headquarters from Lieut. Clark, dated Red Cloud agency, May 27, states that after a careful investigation he considers the part of the Cheyenne story relating to Sitting Bull absolutely false, that he is being north of the Yellowstone, and probably north of the Missouri. The rest of the Cheyenne report appears to be founded on fact; though there is no certainty about it. Probably Lame Deer's village was captured and the version of the affair given correct.

Panic in a Church.

NEW YORK, May 31.—A panic took place in the Roman Catholic church of Staunton county this morning. A large congregation was gathered to witness the administration of holy communion to a number of Sunday school children. These latter all wore gossamer veils, one of which took fire from a candelabra. The cry of fire was raised, and a greater part of the congregation rushed for the doors, but the efforts of the priests and ushers, who kept the doors closed, prevented a terrible calamity. The fire having been extinguished and the congregation reassured, the services proceeded without further interruption. Some parties received severe bruises during the stampede.

Panic Averted.

NEW YORK, May 30.—During a musical soiree to-night, in the Twenty-third street Music Theater, the curtain being raised too high took fire, and in a minute the whole stage seemed ablaze. The theater was filled with a large audience, which became alarmed, but owing to the presence of mind of some artists the fire was extinguished and a panic averted. The performance then proceeded without further mishap.

Hydrophobia.

HARTFORD, Ct., May 31.—Mons. Vasilvergnat, an instructor of French in a Hartford school, who was bitten by a dog on April 30th, died this morning of hydrophobia.

WASHINGTON CITY.

U. S. Ministers Abroad.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Post's Washington special says: To a gentleman who called upon him recently, the President said he had decided to adopt the Jeffersonian doctrine of changing all foreign ministers who had been in office four years. In reading some of Jefferson's works he found this doctrine set forth at length, and it met with his unhesitating approval, and would now constitute a part of the policy of his administration. An American citizen ought to serve his country in a foreign land no longer than four years, and he ought to be content to return to his own country at the expiration of that term of service. The President said further that there would be no exception to this rule. It seems to be thought Minister Pierrepont will not be disturbed for the present, he having been minister only one year. In the early part of April, George F. Seward, U. S. minister to China, suspended from office Consul General Myers at Shanghae, for instigation of a publication of certain libelous statements reflecting upon Seward. The statements of both Seward and Myers were received at the State Department some days ago, and have been fully considered. While no official action has yet been taken, it is understood Minister Seward will be sustained, and Myers will be removed.

Butler's Reply to McVeigh.

CHICAGO, May 31.—A special to the Journal from Washington says Butler is preparing what he claims will be a crushing reply to Wayne McVeigh's denial of his statements.

Ohio's Last Ablebodied Man.

Sixty treasury clerks were removed to-day. It is positively stated that Gen. Comly of the Ohio State Journal has been tendered and accepted the ministership to the Sandwich Islands.

Federal Appointment.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Wickham Hoffman has been appointed secretary of legation at St. Petersburg, vice Hoffman Atkinson, resigned, on account of sickness.

Supreme Court Decisions.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—The Supreme Court in its recent decision in the Colorado case of Tarseling against U. S. Freehold and Emigration Co., decided that the action of Congress under the act of 1854 was conclusive of titles to Spanish land grants affected by it. In this case the plaintiff in error insisted that under the Mexican colonization laws in force when the grant in question was made, no more than 11 square leagues for each petitioner could be lawfully granted. There were in the present instance but two petitioners, and the land in the boundaries of the disputed grants is largely in excess of that quantity. Justice Davis, in his opinion for the court, which appears to have been unanimous, says:

Were we exercising appellate jurisdiction over the proceedings of a court or officers specially appointed to determine the validity or extent of the grant in question, it would be our duty to reaffirm or reverse the decision, pursuant to the rules which Congress has prescribed for our government; but that body adopted a different mode for the adjustment of land claims in New Mexico. By the 8th section of the act of 1854 the duty was expressly enjoined upon the Surveyor General of that Territory to ascertain the original nature, character and extent of all such claims under the laws, usage and customs of Spain and Mexico. He was empowered to do all that was necessary to a full report upon all claims, and was required to report to the Land Department for the consideration of Congress. Congress having confirmed the report in respect of these lands, without any limitation as to the quantity, it is regarded as applying to the entire tract, and the decision of Congress is treated as conclusive of the question presented.

More Room for Ohioans.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Fifty employes and four chiefs of divisions in the bureau of printing and engraving gave way to day to new men.

The Chisholm Massacre.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—All representations on the subject of the Chisholm massacre have been referred to Attorney-General Devens who will examine the laws for the purpose of ascertaining whether there is any authority for the Federal courts to interfere. The Secretary of State takes part in the investigation only from the fact that British authorities complain that one of the parties massacred was a British subject.

Survey of the Pacific.

WASHINGTON, May 31.—For several years the bureau of navigation at the Navy Department has made strenuous efforts to obtain sufficient appropriations to make a proper survey of the Pacific Ocean, especially the coast between the Isthmus and San Francisco for the benefit of commerce between those places. The necessity for a proper survey of the locality where the Pacific Mail Co's. steamer City of San Francisco was recently wrecked has been felt, and appropriation to make such survey, and estimates were prepared for that purpose to be submitted to Congress, but the late Secretary of the Navy did not deem it advisable to give the matter his approval, and therefore the survey could not be made.

The President's Financial Views.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Tribune's special from Washington says Hayes favors the remonetization of silver, but under such conditions as will not shake the public credit. He does not believe in the justice of making the principal and interest of the public debt payable in silver.

Drawing the Record on Butler.

WASHINGTON, May 30.—In connection with Gen. Butler's statement in the New York Sun that he never owned nor expected to own an inch of land in Colorado, it may be stated that on record in Pueblo county appears a warranty deed from Wm. Craig to B. F. Butler for 71,000 acres. The deed is dated April 20, 1877; consideration, $30,000.

Are there any Border Troubles?

NEW YORK, May 31.—The World's Washington special says: Ord leaves to-morrow to resume command on the Rio Grand. He takes no new instructions with him, and is likely to be followed by statements which were promised, showing the incursions of garrisons have been greatly exaggerated in number and extent. It is declared by those who profess to know, that there has not been a raid across the border for six months, which amounted to anything. Ord says he has not force enough to protect the border, and he has received no assurances it will be increased.

Treasury Solicitorship.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Sun's special from Washington says the President offered the position of Solicitor of the Treasury to Gen. Goff, U. S. district attorney of West Virginia. Goff declined, but the offer being urged, he has taken the matter under consideration.

Another Letter on the Mississippi Horror.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Times' Washington special says the letter from which the following extracts were made was written by a native of Mississippi to a friend in Washington, who furnishes it to the Times for publication with a strict injunction that the writer or his place of residence shall not be made known. This injunction is made imperatively necessary by the certainty that the author would be murdered could he be discovered by his neighbors. The writer was in the Confederate army during the rebellion, but since the reconstruction has been a consistent Republican. His son, who had been liberally educated for one of the learned professions, was wantonly assassinated in Mississippi for publicly avowing his political sentiments. The writer says:

I could write you page on page of things shocking to the senses of any one not steeped in crime, but I forbear. As went Chisholm and Jam by in Kemper, so, sooner or later, will go every native Republican in Mississippi, unless they preserve a dogged silence or renounce republicanism. Home rule in Mississippi means silence or death to all Republicans. I am willing to give the President's Southern policy a fair trial: yes, am willing to go further, and, as a native white Republican, be offered up as a sacrifice, as I have been on the altar of public expediency, if that will secure the civil and political liberty of myself and partisans. But will it do? Does the Kemper butchery answer affirmatively? Does Gov. Stone's action respond it will? I am willing to wait with the President and see. But suppose it don't; what then? With the negroes all driven to the Democracy for safety, and the native white Republicans silenced, or their voices hushed in death, who will be left to proclaim liberty and union? I am supporting a rid daily defending the President and his administration, but I tell you if this condition of things is not soon changed, in less than five years Northern men will again have to enforce with fire and sword obedience to national law. The seeds of discord are here: hatred of constitutional amendments still lives, despite the declaration of the Democracy to the contrary. The Democracy of the nation, as well as of the State, mean just what they have always meant—they will rule or they will ruin. I am fully aware that these sentiments, coming from an obscure person away down in Mississippi, can have no force, nor would I dissuade if I could, one man from his support of the Southern policy, but I would nevertheless believe that if there is any truth in history or any logic in events, that I am right in saying the war for liberty and union will soon have to be fought over again if these people are much longer indulged in their desire to shed blood. It is fast begetting a spirit of self sufficiency, and a feeling of supremacy and a sense of almightiness which, if not restricted or checked soon, will ultimate in defying the general government. Be careful to whom you show or what you do with and where you leave anything I write you. I don't want to get into trouble, as I assuredly will if you are not careful.

EX-PRESIDENT GRANT IN ENGLAND.

Grant the Great Guest.

LONDON, May 31.—It is understood the corporation of London will present Gen. Grant the honorary freedom of the city in a gold box. After the presentation the corporation will entertain Gen. Grant at Dejuner at Guil Hall. A formal invitation will be sent him in a few days.

Reception Speech at Manchester.

NEW YORK, May 31.—London specials give the following as the speech of the mayor of Manchester on the occasion of Grant's reception. The Mayor said he had not forgotten a similar occasion, when, in 1863, the ship Griswold brought a cargo of provisions to suffering operatives of the city who had been thrown out of employment, owing to the failure of the supply of cotton from the South. He also made pleasant allusion to the visit of that distinguished American statesman, Reverdy Johnson. The present object of the corporation, he said, was to evidence the good will of the citizens of Manchester personally as a representative of the great American people, whose good feeling they desired to cultivate.

Sir Joseph Herred read a long address, congratulatory in its character and recalling the kind expression which the Queen's birthday had evoked in America. He hoped for the constant increase of existing good feeling, and trusted that the visit of the ex President would ultimately lead to an interchange of ideas on the subject of abolishing the restrictions on trade, and the establishment, by common consent, of free commercial intercourse between England and the United States.

The General, who had listened to the address with the quiet composure of manner peculiar to him, at once rising acknowledged the presentation:

"It is scarcely possible for me," he said, "to give utterance to the feelings evoked by my reception upon your soil. From the moment of my arrival in Liverpool, where I have passed a couple of days until the present moment, after the scene which I have witnessed in your streets, elements of greatness as manifested in your public and industrial buildings, I may be allowed to say that no person could be the recipient of the honors and attendance you have bestowed upon me without the profound est feeling. Such has been incited in me, and I find myself inadequate to their proper expression. It was my original purpose on my arrival in Liverpool to hasten to London, and from thence proceed to visit various points of interest in the country, among these I regarded Manchester as the most important. Here, as I have been aware for years is the great amount of your manufactures, many of which find their ultimate destination in my own country. So I am aware that the sentiments of the great mass of the people of Manchester were in sympathy with that country during the mighty struggle in which it fell my lot to take some humble part. The expression of the people of Manchester at the time of our great trial excited within the breasts of my countrymen feelings of friendship toward them distinct from that felt toward all England. In that spirit I accept on the part of my country the compliments paid me as its representative, and thank you.

After the banquet and usual toast, the health of President Hayes was proposed and received with enthusiasm. Newton Crane, U. S. Consul at Manchester, responded amid considerable applause. After these formalities the mayor of Manchester proposed the health of Gen. Grant, amid plaudits of the assemblage. Gen. Grant replied with a humorous twinkle in his eye, that Englishmen had got more speeches and of greater length out of him than his own countrymen, but that they were poorer because they were longer than he was accustomed to make. He warmly returned thanks for the reception he had received at the hands of the people of Manchester.

Jacob Bright being called on for a speech, said no guest so distinguished has ever before visited Manchester. Gen. Grant is a brave soldier, and he has pursued a generous, pacific policy toward his enemies. He had conquered, and he should be honored and beloved, and deserved the hearty reception he would certainly receive throughout the realm.

Last evening the general visited the Theater Royal, and afterward attended for a short time at the Prince's Theater, where he saw the actor J. L. Toole. His reception at both places was very enthusiastic.

THE TURF.

Fleetwood Park.

NEW YORK, May 30.—At Fleetwood Park, first in 2:30 class, Steve Maxwell won, Maryland 2d; time, 2:32½, 2:27½, 2:30¾. The 2:34 race Young Sentinel won, Modesty 2d; time, 2:30, 2:29½, 2:29.

The Derby.

LONDON, May 30.—After the preliminary canter had been made by Plunger, seventeen started. At the first attempt the flag fell to a capital start. Glen Arthur and Tantalus were first away and made joint running for 200 yards, when they were joined by Don Carlos, Brown Prince and Jagellan, these being just in advance of Plunger, Touchet, Orleans, Sylvia and Rob Roy. Then came Grey Friar and Chamant, with Covenanter and Phidorop in the rear. Before reaching the mile post Brown Prince took up the running. At the top of the hill Glen Arthur was leading. Again as they came around Tottenham corner, Glen Arthur, Touchet, Grey Friar and Sylvia on the lower ground were followed by Chamant, Rob Roy, Brown Prince and Altyre. Here Chamant was beaten and Sylvia took a second place, Phidorop, Rob Roy and Altyre being just in advance of Touchet and Brown Prince as they commenced to rise the hill. A little over a hundred yards from home Sylvia took command while Rob Roy began to overhaul leading the pair; however, he never got out and Sylvia won by half a length, three quarters of a length between second and third. Phidorop beaten by a head for a place was fourth. The remainder followed in the following order: Altyre, Brown Prince, Touchet, Thunderstone, Grey Friar, Chamant, Jagellen, Plunger, Don Carlos, Covenanter, Tantalus Orleans and Lady Miller; time, 2:50.

WEST INDIES.

Cuban Peace in Prospect.

HAVANA, May 26.—There are rumors here of peace negotiations at Manzanillo between Cuban chiefs and Martinez Campos, through the intervention of the Archbishop of Santiago de Cuba. The rumor is likely to turn out untrue. It can not be denied the general tenor of news from the interior shows a tendency on the part of commanders in the field to try to come to a peaceable arrangement with the insurgents. The American Catholic Priest Teope is very active and is treated with the utmost courtesy and deference by Martinez.

HAVANA, May 30.—Martinez Campos remains at Santiago. Troops are operating on the whole line in that neighborhood. The rainy season has set in and will retard operations. No attitude is felt at headquarters for the health of the soldiers and military hospitals have been reorganized.

LATEST WAR NEWS.

The Sultan's Home Troubles.

VIENNA, May 30.—The palace clique at Constantinople seems to have renounced all idea of yielding. The formation of the council of war is a sign that it has reasserted its position in the palace. This measure will probably prevent it going to the army. Although rumors of ministerial changes have ceased, the first step of the council of war has been to obtain an authorization from the Sultan for the formation of the Hungarian legion. The authorization was given despite the representations of Count Zichy, Austrian ambassador, and the urgent dissent on of Khalka Pasha.

Russian Acknowledgment of Roumania.

Probably Russia will only acknowledge the independence of Roumania provisionally, so as not to place herself in antagonism with the other powers, who are inclined to defer recognition till the close of the war.

Servian Independence.

The News, in a war summary, has the following: The most moderate view taken of Servian preparations is that they are intended to support a declaration of independence, to be issued as soon as the Russians cross the Danube. In that case the Servians, without declaring war or making any forward movement, would practically cover the right of the Russo-Roumanian army.

Ardahan not Recaptured.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 30.—The report of the recapture of Ardahan is false.

Ardahan Retaken.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 30.—It is officially announced that the Turks have just retaken Ardahan.

Russian Finances.

LONDON, May 30.—The Times says it has been very commonly remarked lately that the speculative amount in Russian stocks open at one time exceeded in the aggregate many times the nominal amount of the Russian 1873 loan of 75 millions.

Germany's Peace Policy.

Semi-official provincial correspondence of the Berlin army publishes an article which, in the light of recent peace rumors from Bucharest, is significant. The article concludes: The efforts of the German policy which, after the last war found expression in a firm basis in the alliance of the three Emperors, have proved also in the present grave crisis to be guaranteed for pacific mediation reaching far beyond that narrow alliance. If, notwithstanding the outbreak of the Russo-Turkish war, the prospects of the preservation of peace in Europe have within the last few weeks rather increased than diminished, Germany's policy has an honorable share in this.

Turkish Loans.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 30.—Mr. Foster, manager of the Ottoman Bank, will leave here today for London to bring about an arrangement with the holders of the Turkish loans of 1854 and 1871. These loans are secured upon Egyptian tribute. His object is to obtain from bondholders a release of that portion of their guarantee which is in excess of these portions of the above loans still outstanding, and on this to negotiate a new loan.

Roumanian Railways.

In consequence of numerous accidents railroads will shortly be placed entirely under Russian management.

The Armies Near Erzeroum.

LONDON, May 30.—A dispatch from Erzeroum, Tuesday, describes the positions of the opposing armies as follows: The Russian right wing is at Niassispeneck, and the advance guard thereof has reached Kalidagh. Cavalry patrols belonging to the Russian center have advanced as far as Vesnivaisan. The left wing is now only 6,000 strong, and the main body thereof is at Utchkilliea. The advance guard has had skirmishes with the Turks at Toprak Kaleh.

Turkey Ready for Peace.

CHICAGO, May 30.—The Inter-Ocean's London special says: I have just seen a telegram to a prominent merchant of London from a broker in Constantinople who states that the impression exists in commercial circles that the war will be of short duration. The Porte confidently expected aid from England, which is not yet forthcoming, and late defeats have had such a depressing effect that any fair proposal would likely be accepted.

Pretense of the Porte.

VIENNA, May 30.—The Political Correspondence's special from Constantinople says: The Porte, in order to justify numerous arrests, has informed diplomatic representatives here that a conspiracy for the overthrow of his dynasty was discovered. This is untrue. The Porte's only object is the removal of the partisans of Midhat Pasha, who are openly agitating for his recall.

Rumor of an Armistice.

LONDON, May 31.—A Berlin dispatch states that a semi-official paper there continues to intimate the end of the war is approaching. The constitution of an armistice is already rumored.

The Times' correspondent at Vienna telegraphs as follows: Rumors of the possibility of peace are floating about here. They emanate in Berlin, and date from the time of Prince Bismarck's stay there. At first they were vague; now, however, they have assumed a more positive form, to the effect that the fall of Ardahan and retreat of the Turks to Erzeroum, together with the impression made on the Porte by the menacing attitude of the Chamber and population of the capital, have already furnished an opportunity for German mediation. It is also to be remarked that the Grand Vizier was for some time ambassador at Berlin, and has been keeping up rather intimate relations with the German cabinet as regards Turkey. It is thought the government and palace cliques would only be too glad to escape from their critical position by dismissing the Chamber and their coming to an arrangement. The Turkish parliament might be sent home in June without any extraordinary measure. The impression equally exists that Russia is little inclined to carry matters to an extreme. The success already gained in Asia and in taking up positions on the Danube might be considered as sufficient satisfaction to military honor, provided Turkey were inclined to yield, especially as the task of crossing the Danube and acquiring the complete mastery of Bulgaria is not underrated nor the danger ignored of complications which might arise both at home and abroad. The correspondent concludes, "I reproduce these rumors as I find them. The bourse seems to be influenced by them, and in official and diplomatic circles they seem to have made but little impression, and are seemingly very premature, to say the least."

The Time to Cross the Danube.

The Times' Bucharest dispatch says the weather is now dry and hot. No very serious resistance to the actual crossing of the Danube is apprehended, as the fortresses will be avoided and want of proper organization renders the Turkish armies unwieldy. Large masses of Turks to-day made a fifth attempt to establish batteries opposite Islatz, but were driven away by Roumanian guns.

Conditions of Reopening the Danube

A Vienna special says: In consequence of the representations of the Austrian Government about the reopening of navigation of the Danube as far as Giela, Safvet Pasha has assured Count Zichy that if the government pledged itself that the Danube Steam Navigation Company would not carry goods contraband of war or tow down ships for the Russians and Roumanians the Porte would consent to the reopening. Commercial matters now appear to be settled.

Turkish Guerrillas.

A special from Belgrade says the Turkish irregulars have attacked an island in the Drina, in Servian territory, where the inhabitants were peaceably working in the fields, and killed several. They carried off some people and cattle. The government sent a commission to investigate the matter.

The Servian Attitude.

VIENNA, May 30.—A dispatch says Servian preparations are not such as to favor the idea that Prince Milan will permit himself to be carried by popular pressure. At least it may be asserted that neither the government nor the prince are likely to decide before the return of the latter from Ploiesti.

The Grecian Ministry.

ATHENS, May 30.—M. Commoundouros will form a ministry favorable to war. Uneasiness prevails in Athens.

Austrian Monitors at Belgrade.

Two Austrian monitors arrived this morning in sight of Belgrade.

Redif Pasha Dismissed.

A special from Constantinople says in consequence of the demonstration of 3,000 Softas, the Grand Vizier consented to the dismissal of Redif Pasha.

Russian Repulsed at Batoum.

LONDON, May 31.—The Daily Telegraph's has the following from Batoum on Wednesday: The Russians yesterday attacked the Turkish position here, notwithstanding the large force which the Russians brought to the attack and their persistence against a galling fire of Ottoman artillery and infantry, they were finally repulsed, leaving great numbers of dead and wounded. The engagement lasted ten hours, during which time very close combats took place.

The Daily Telegraph's Erzeroum special confirms the report that the Russian left wing was repulsed in an attack on Karakilisea.

A Lying Pasha.

VIENNA, May 31.—The Tagblatt states that Mukhtar Pasha has been dismissed from command, and will be court-martialed for representing that he had equipped an army of 60,000 men, whereas he only had 30,000 at his disposal.

The Egyptian Contingent.

LONDON, May 31.—The News' Alexandria dispatch says Egyptian transport steamers have not yet started with the Egyptian contingent troops for Turkey. The strike of the English engineers, which at first delayed their departure, has been settled, but the Russian man-of-war Petropaulovskki, carrying 20 half-ton guns is waiting for them in the Mediterranean.

A special from Paris to the Times says the Turkish ironclads are expected at Alexandria on the 4th of June to escort the Egyptian transports.

Fight at Batoum.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 31.—An official dispatch from the army of the Caucasus, May 29th, says on Monday Gen. Oklobshio, commanding operations against Batoum, ordered his advance guard to the left bank of the heights on the left of the Turkish line. The enterprise was accomplished. Meantime detachments ascended Kintvisch, and after great difficulty established a position about four miles from Kalzuban, thus cutting off communication between Batoum and the population of Kabelite district. The Russian loss in both enterprises was four killed and thirty wounded.

Ardahan Recaptured.

LONDON, May 31.—The Turkish foreign minister has telegraphed the Porte's representatives abroad as follows: Ardahan, which was recently occupied by the Russians, has been recaptured by Ottoman troops.

Gladstone and the People.

BIRMINGHAM, May 31.—Gladstone arrived here to day and received a great ovation. Business was suspended. At the meeting in the evening 30,000 were present. Gladstone made an eloquent attack on the Turkish government and the same accusations as on a former occasion. He justified popular agitation because the government pursued a zig-zag policy and were always ready to revert to the policy of supporting Turkey. If popular pressure was withdrawn he declared that the country entirely sided with the Liberal party. If the government disputed the fact they should dissolve the Parliament to disprove it. At the close of Gladstone's speech, a resolution was unanimously passed, amid great enthusiasm, declaring that the wise and honorable policy would be for England to use her influence in conjunction with the authority of the Great Powers to exact from Turkey effectual guarantees against the maltreatment and oppression of Christians. Gladstone's reception at the meeting was most enthusiastic. Upon his appearance on the platform, the whole audience rose and cheered some minutes unintelligibly.

Prepared for War.

LONDON, May 31.—In the House of Commons Lord Elcho urged the government to prepare for the eventualities of the present war.

Gathorne Hardy, Secretary of State, said, although the government maintains forces on a peace footing, it had not overlooked any possible contingency.

A German War Newspaper.

LONDON, May 31.—Yesterday the Berlin Post had another war article, declaring that no confidence ought to be placed in the professions or intentions of the French cabinet, and that the hopes of peace rest chiefly on the prudence and sagacity of German statesmen. The article is full of insinuations against Count Von Beust, Austrian ambassador at London; of whose intrigues it gives a circumstantial account. It says he recently endeavored to cement an Anglo-Austro and French alliance, to be nominally concluded against Russia and Germany, but in reality against Germany alone. France and Austria were to have attacked Germany, while England would be left to deal single-handed with Russia in the East. The English cabinet, however, seeing through this plot, it came to nothing.

Beats Russian Names.

ATHENS, May 31.—A new ministry has been formed. It is constituted as follows: Coumoundouros, president of council and minister of foreign affairs; Papamichotopolus, minister of interior; Condostoolos, minister of justice; Salisopoulos, minister of finance; Notarias, minister of public worship and instruction; Beauvolis, minister of marine; Petrezeas, minister of war.

A Slow Coach.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The Times correspondent within the Turkish lines describing Turkish chivalriness, reports that on the 6th of May, 300 Krupp guns were buried in the snow on the road between Trebizond and Erzeroum. It is known that these have not since been mounted, from which it is believed the Turks are not adequately prepared to resist the Russian advance through Songulu passes to Erzeroum plains.

Railroad Washed Away.

BUCHAREST, May 31.—The railway line between Adjud and Maraschesti has been carried away in seven places, and all traffic again suspended for an indefinite time.

Latest from Ardahan.

LONDON, May 31.—A Constantinople dispatch, dated Thursday evening, says the Porte has not yet received confirmation of the recapture of Ardahan from the general commanding in Armenia.

The very Latest from Ardahan.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 31.—The Turkish government announcement of the recapture of Ardahan is regarded here as untrue, because telegrams from Tiflis, dated to-day, mention no such event.

General War Notes.

BUCHAREST, May 31.—Sixty Russian siege guns are expected at Kalafat to strengthen the batteries there.

The Servian government asserts that Turks have violated the frontier and massacred several Servians on the river Drina.

VIENNA, May 30.—Thirteen trains, filled with Circassian cavalry in the Russian service, passed over the Moldavian railways in one day on their way back to Russia. The sheik, Ul Islam, found means to let these troops know that holy war had been declared, and they since have shown great discontent, and many declared they would not fire on their coreligionists. A detachment was sent to the Siberian garrison.

The suite accompanying the Czar to Roumania numbers 300.

Up to the present time Russia has paid to Roumania 1,000,000 roubles.

On May 25th financial officials of Roumania applied to the Russian chief of staff for an additional installment. They were informed nothing could be done until further orders were received.

The Roumanian ministry is in trouble over the paper currency project, being unable to get a quorum for the past two days, and have therefore consented to adjourn debate. The foreign

FRIDAY MORNING, JUNE 1, 1877.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

We print a letter from Corvallis which contains an argument for amending the constitution so as to allow the creation of public debts to secure needed public improvements. That in some cases beneficial results have followed such a policy we have not questioned; but that experience has shown it to be liable to great abuses and often productive of disastrous consequences, is a fact so well known and teaching so many lessons, that no people can afford to neglect it. For many years Illinois was loaded and crushed with debts of this description. It was a long time before she grew strong enough to carry them. The argument of our correspondent from the examples of Kansas and Nebraska is not applicable at all to Oregon. He makes a great mistake in the supposition that our State, had it not been deprived of the "prerogative" of running into debt which they enjoy, would have had as rapid increase of population and wealth. They have had this growth because they possesses advantages for it. Lying immediately on the borders of older States, and brought by great lines of railway within easy distance of the principal centers of population, they have been settled very rapidly. To this alone is due the fact that in the two States there are now a million people. No doubt their local lines of railway, built in part by State and county aid, have been an auxiliary to their growth and prosperity. But while they could afford this, Oregon heretofore could not. People could get to Kansas and Nebraska in great numbers, who couldn't get to Oregon at all, because of the distance and expense. Those States were thus assured of more rapid growth than ours could hope for, and they could safely incur debts which would have wrought the ruin of Oregon. If we mortgage every acre of land in the State and build railroads with the proceeds, we shall not grow as fast as Kansas has done, though our resources are far greater than hers. The great thing necessary to build up our State is railway connection with the East. It is beyond the power of Oregon to build such a road, even if we amend the constitution and pledge the credit of the State for it. Owing to our position, a policy that may be good for Kansas and other States, is not necessarily good for us, and if our constitution is to be amended, it should be done cautiously and under close and strict limitations.

THE CHICO VERDICTS.

People throughout the United States have read with gratification of the stern enforcement of the law against the assassins of Chinese at Chico. Such an example was greatly needed. Though the criminals are not punished capitally, yet the long duration of their confinement at penal labor is exemplary, and the effect on a riotous and vicious class will be excellent. This massacre has been commented on in nearly all parts of the United States, and has received attention even in Europe. Doubt has been expressed whether juries in California, owing to popular prejudice against Chinese, would mete out adequate punishment for the crime. Many supposed that these acts would find the impunity which political murders in many parts of the South notoriously obtain. But there is a juster feeling in California toward Chinese than in Mississippi and South Carolina toward the opponents of the dominant party. The murderers of the Chisholm family therefore are not punished as the assassins of Chinese at Chico are. A long time probably must elapse before a demand grows up in certain localities in the South for the enforcement of justice in cases where party prejudice is an element. But though a bitter feeling exists against Chinese in many places on this coast, and especially in California, it is established that they cannot be murdered with impunity; that juries will convict, and that courts will fearlessly enforce penalties. Though it was urged in extenuation that demagogues and party leaders had been arranguing the country against Chinese, and had openly taught a doctrine that directly incited a deluded class to the perpetration of this and similar crimes, yet the penalty was enforced, and properly too, on the ground that every person is to be held responsible to the law for his own criminal acts. These verdicts are a vindication of the better sentiment of California.

England has 41,000,000 Mohammedan subjects in India. In point of numbers it is therefore true that England is "the greatest Mussulman power in the world." Suppose these subjects of England should want to join the Sultan in his holy war? Their distance from the present theater of hostilities would make it impossible for them to do much except to give England trouble, but this they might do to such an extent as to make it almost necessary for the British government to take up the cause of the Turk. Between her commercial interests, her multitude of Mohammedan subjects and the danger of losing her naval supremacy, England is in a corner. And therefore, though she is revolted by Osmanlic barbarism, she may be driven by necessity into a war to uphold it.

A Russian scientist has perfected a new electric light, of which the newspapers of England and France speak in highest terms. It is a very powerful light, is economical and safe, and it is claimed will supersede all other methods of illumination for great buildings and all places where a large amount of light is needed. New York papers report very favorably upon it. The light is produced in connection with kaolin, the clay of which porcelain is made, the sparks playing over its surface and emitting wonderful brightness.

A correspondent of the Record urges that the land grant be not renewed to the Northern Pacific Railroad, but that the proceeds of the sale of odd sections be given. Then the settler can take his land directly from government at a uniform price. There is a good deal in this argument. But would this system build the road?

The country will be delighted to hear that Ohio is at last to be recognized. One of her citizens is to have an office. This is right. Comly, who has been postmaster at Columbus for the last eight years, is to be sent as Minister to the Sandwich Islands. Very justly Ohio was beginning to feel that her claims for office were being slighted.

Oregon, with Washington Territory and half of Idaho, would contain the entire population of the United States and be no more thickly populated to the square mile than Massachusetts is at present. But it is probable that all the men, women and children will not come here, even though there be room enough.

PROFITS OF LITERARY WORK.

In these times more than formerly authors who achieve success owe it to the possession of wealth which enables them to cultivate literature without being obliged, as Johnson put it, "to provide for the wants of the passing day." So Motley was enabled to become a distinguished author; so Prescott and Ticknor had sufficient fortunes to lift them above the necessity of writing ephemeral matter for the market, to get daily bread. Longfellow also had a living independent of his poetry and could afford to wait; else we may be sure he would not have produced so much good poetry as he has favored us withal. Bancroft was long obliged to seek employments outside of his literary work; it was a great while before his productions brought him a steady income. Irving was an old man before the sale of his works brought him much profit. In most cases it requires a long period to make available the labors and resources of authorship, and many a man of real genius has been driven to the trade of a hack writer in order to produce something that would have an immediate market price, even though the rate were miserably low. Fortunate, indeed, are we that such writers as Prescott and Motley, Gibbon and Alison, had private resources that enabled them to employ their time and use money in the preparation of the works they have given us. Otherwise those works would not be in our hands.

But hard as is the work of authors, their opportunities for pecuniary success are now infinitely greater than formerly. There is a market now, and works of merit are sure to find purchasers, though they make their way sometimes slowly. Before Pope, however, no English author made much money by his writings. Shakespeare got nothing for his productions, but depended for his livelihood on the profits of his theatre; Jonson in his old age was miserably poor and compelled to write for the merest pittance he could get; Milton received in all only fifteen pounds for the Paradise Lost; Dryden in his old age had a scanty pension from the government which was his sole reliance, and even this was not paid with regularity, so he was often in sore distress. Pope was the first English author who made money by his pen. His translation of the Iliad brought him at once about six thousand pounds, a success till then never heard of in literature. Johnson, all his life long, was obliged to write to get his bread. After he grew famous he was no longer in distress, but still he did not possess a competence. It was the pressure of necessity that brought forth Rasselas. There is no record of poverty more wretched than that of Johnson's early career in London. Poor Goldsmith's distress is one of the most familiary facts of literary history, and the misfortunes of Chatterton and Savage have always awakened the sympathy of students of literature. The list of the calamities of authors might be increased almost without end. Pecuniary success has rather been the exception of authorship than the rule.

A few authors only have made great sums by their writings. In this respect Scott had the most successful career on record; but great as were the profits of his authorship, he was overwhelmed with debt and was usually miserable in consequence of it. Probably no author during his own lifetime ever had the celebrity possessed by Voltaire; but he owed his wealth to a questionable speculation at the expense of government rather than to his literary productions. Prescott for some years before his death had a steady income from his books of twenty thousand dollars a year, which was very remarkable success. Gibbon received six thousand pounds for his great history, and it was an uncommon sum. But his materials alone cost him as much as he received for the book, to say nothing of his thirty years' labor; and it is easy to see that such a sum, gained on such terms, will keep an author indigent.

First-class work is now more sure of compensation than formerly; but only a few who essay authorship are fortunate enough to have a competence that enables them to pursue it at their leisure, to meet the expense it incurs, and to wait for the return it brings.

OFFICE OF INSURANCE COMMISSIONER, San Francisco, Feb. 5, 1877.

I, J. W. Foard, hereby certify that I am Insurance Commissioner of the State of California, and have supervision of Insurance business in the State, and as such Commissioner, further certify that the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California is a corporation properly organized under the laws of this State, and be ng in a solvent condition, and possessed of a paid up capital of One Hundred Thousand Dollars, equal to Gold Coin of the United States, is authorized to do business in the State. And I further certify that, upon a personal examination of the books and papers of the said company at the close of the year eighteen hundred and seventy-six, its statement as of this date, and now on file in this office, was shown to be correct and true, the company being possessed of good, valid assets amounting to one million two hundred and sixty-four thousand eight hundred and thirty-six dollars and eighty-six cents ($1,264,836 86), and having outstanding liabilities, as defined by the laws of the State, amounting to nine hundred and sixteen thousand seven hundred and fifty dollars, and five cents ($916,750 05), exclusive of the Capital Stock.

(L.S.) As witness my hand and official seal, the day and year first above written.

J. W. FOARD.
Insurance Commissioner.

[Extract from Report of A. B. SMITH, ex-Deputy Insurance Commissioner.]

J. J. EDWARDS, Pub lisher Coast Review:

Dear Sir:—In pursuance of your request I have made an examination of the assets and liabilities of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company of California, as they existed on the 31st day of December, 1876, as shown by the books and papers of the Company, and as a result of such examination I beg to report as follows:

* * * * * *

Total Assets, Gold.....$1,281,847 59
Re-Insurance Reserve, American Experience, 4½ per cent.....886,031 49
Claims for Death Losses.....28,700 00
Due on Account Salaries and Rents.....2,019 02

Total Liabilities, Gold.....916,750 51

Net surplus to Policy-holders, Gold.....$365,097 08
Company's paid-up Capital.....$100,000 00

The above is, I believe, a true and fair statement of the Company's condition Dec. 31, 1876.

In conclusion, I beg to say that I found the Company's business thoroughly systematized—its books and papers in excellent condition and neatly kept. Every facility was extended to me by all the officers and employees of the Company to enable me to make my examination through. Books, papers, and accounts were freely exhibited to me. There was no attempt to hold back or conceal anything. I am satisfied the Company counts the most rigid security. For courtesies extended, I beg to return thanks to the officers and teachers of the Company.

Respectfully submitted,

A. B. SMITH.

ANOTHER VERSION.—Mr. Henry Moore, a resident of Port Townsend, called last evening at this office and furnished the particulars of the killing of Captain Howard at that place a few days ago. Mr. Moore witnessed the encounter, and his statement throws a different light on the bloody affair from that already published heretofore. Briefly, his statement is to this effect: On the afternoon of the day of the homicide Captain Walker and another man, whose name Mr. Moore could not remember, left the wharf and passed Sutton's saloon. It stands a few paces from the wharf, leading from the wharf. Sutton happened to be standing in the door of the saloon when the men passed. Just as they came opposite the door Howard's companion entered the saloon, and said to him, "Captain, come and take a drink." Howard replied in an angry tone, "I'll be d—d if I'll drink in a s— of b—h of a bawdy-house." Sutton sprang up quickly and said, "What is that you say?" to which Howard replied, "I'll not drink with such a s— of b—h as you." Sutton said he will not take that from any man; the matter has gone just far enough, and had as well settle things right here as anywhere else." As Sutton said this he left the door and went behind the bar in a threatening manner. Howard entered the saloon at the same instant, drawing his pistol meanwhile from under his coat. Sutton also drew a pistol a few seconds later. Somehow Howard did not cock his pistol, although he had drawn on his antagonist. Sutton fired first, the ball taking effect in the side. Still Howard failed to discharge his weapon, for some reason. The second shot from Sutton's pistol took effect in Howard's right arm, causing him to drop the pistol. He sank down slowly to the floor, and Sutton, advancing to his victim, said, "I expect I've killed him." The shots attracted a number of persons, who came rushing into the saloon just as Howard fell. Some said that he was killed, and some expressed the opinion that he was only wounded. Sutton was undecided as to what course to pursue—whether to leave or stay. He was advised pro and con by his friends. Howard thought he had better remain and stand trial, and others that it would be more prudent for him to leave. But he said finally, "No, boys, I am going to leave here." Sutton then took a double-barreled shotgun and a Henry rifle and left the saloon, saying that any person who attempted to prevent him from going he would kill. Sutton then went to the wharf, got in his boat and rowed away. There was bad blood between Howard and Sutton, growing out of some difficulty which these men had had some months ago. Howard's wife is a half-breed, and Howard accused Sutton of being too intimate with her. This led to a very bad state of feeling between the two men. Once before the two had an altercation and Howard run Sutton out of his saloon. Sutton was known to be a desperate fellow when crowded, and would not hesitate to take life. Howard, it is said, had the reputation of being a bully, and had beaten several men in a very brutal manner on slight provocation. Public opinion, so far as informant says, is about evenly divided in Port Townsend in regard to the homicide. Friends of Sutton and the murdered man are claiming that each was justified. The account heretofore published was taken from a San Francisco paper, and there was no intention whatever on the part of the OREGONIAN to do injustice to the living or dead. We give Mr. Moore's version to the end that simple justice may be done.

A MAGNIFICENT BOAT.—Several weeks ago the keel for what is destined to be the largest and most expensive steamer on the North Pacific coast, was laid at the boneyard. Finding the facilities for meeting the requirements of trade and travel on the Lower and Upper Willamette inadequate, the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, with that measure of business policy for which the corporation is proverbial, determined to begin at once the construction of a very large steamer. According, the work was commenced energetically some time since, and has been pushed with such a degree of vigor that the frame for the hull, decking and planking and caulking will soon be complete. Mr. John Holland, the chief builder for the company, is personally superintending the work, and in point of model he has certainly outstripped preceding efforts, for the new craft will far eclipse all her sisters in the trade in some "cute" her keel." With such lines the steamer is bound to take the water beautifully, and cannot fail to cleave her native element like a frightened duck. Some idea may be formed of what the company contemplate in the boat line from the dimensions which are as follows: Length, 215 feet; beam, 39 feet; hold, 8 feet; carrying capacity, 600 tons. She will be driven by two 16-inch cylinders of 8 feet stroke. The motor power will be generated by an immense boiler of improved pattern and manufacture. The new boat will be a stern wheel. Her wheel will be 23 feet in diameter, with buckets or "float boards" 10 feet long and 24 inches wide. There are to be before and aft bulkheads, on which the boat will rest. These bulkheads will be partitioned off,

A MAGNIFICENT BOAT.—Several weeks ago the keel for what is destined to be the finest and most expensive steamer on the Northwest coast was laid at the boneyard. Finding the facilities for meeting the requirements of trade and travel on the Lower and Upper Columbia inadequate, the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, with that measure of business energy for which the corporation is proverbial, determined to begin at once the construction of a new large steamer. Accordingly the work was commenced energetically some time ago, has been pushed with such a degree of vigor that the frame for the hull is up, the planking and caulking will soon follow. Mr. Holland, the chief builder for the company, is personally superintending the work, a point of model he has certainly manifested, preceding efforts, for the new craft, to eclipse all her sisters in the handsome "run of her keel." With such lines the steamer is bound to take the water beautifully, and cannot fail to cleave her native element like frightened duck. Some idea may be formed of what the company contemplates in the boat line from the dimensions, which are as follows: Length, 215 feet; beam, 32½ feet, hold, 8 feet; carrying capacity, about 600 tons. She will be driven by two 28-inch cylinders of 8 feet stroke. The motive power will be generated by an immense boiler of improved pattern and manufacture. The new boat will be a stern-wheeler. Her wheel will be 23 feet in diameter, with buckets or "float boards" 16½ feet long and 24 inches wide. There are to be five fore and aft bulkheads, on which the cabin will rest. These bulkheads will be partitioned off, making in all 30 water-tight compartments. With this number of bulkheads it will be almost impossible to sink the boat under any circumstances. The cabin will be finished in the most elegant style throughout. When finished the steamer will be of a character which will justify the use of that somewhat stereotyped expression, "a floating palace." Mr. Holland now has a force of 40 men engaged on the boat. It is expected the work will be sufficiently advanced to enable her to be launched about the middle of July. On or before the 1st of October this new and magnificent craft will be ready to report for service. This fall and winter she will probably be placed temporarily on the Portland-Cascades route, but next summer will run between this place and Astoria, having been built expressly for that route.

NEW ORDINANCE REQUIRED.—Public safety and a decent regard for life and limb require that the common council of the city of Portland should pass a new ordinance. Such an ordinance should prohibit any person or persons from driving through the public streets bands of vicious and untame cattle, except during certain hours specifically designated. The ordinance should be clear, concise and incapable of any ambiguous construction behind which persons arrested for violating its provisions could screen themselves. Those who have observed the practice, now too much in vogue, of driving large bands of cattle through the streets at hours when they are thronged with men, women and children, will at once perceive the necessity of such an ordinance being passed at once. We do not wish to be understood as censuring any one. At present there is no ordinance prohibiting it, and butchers and drovers cannot be blamed for doing that against which no law has been enacted. But, seriously, there is danger to public life and limb. The most of the cattle driven through the city are brought from Eastern Oregon, where they roam at will over almost grazing regions, and in most cases are quite wild and vicious. Of course cattle must be driven through the streets; that cannot possibly be avoided, for the majority of them come down by steamer from The Dalles and are landed at the dock. The danger incurred arises from the fact that they pass through the city when the thoroughfares are crowded. This could easily be avoided. Let the ordinance designate the prohibited hours—say from 6 o'clock A. M. to 10 P. M. After these hours the streets are comparatively deserted and little or no danger need be apprehended. Unless speedy action is taken in the direction indicated, some one will be run over, trampled to death or maimed for life. Will the city fathers consider the matter and report an ordinance at the next meeting of the council?

FESTIVAL OBSERVED.—Yesterday being the festival of Corpus-Christi, it was duly observed by the Catholics of Gervais and St. Louis, on French Prairie, by a procession and the usual religious services at the latter place. Father White, of this city, went up there to assist in conducting religious services. The church and many of the buildings in St. Louis were tastefully decorated with evergreens, and fir boughs were temporarily planted along the streets in rows, between which the procession marched on the way to the cathedral.

CRIME CALENDER.—During May, which, according to the bard, is the "month of beauty," the police record of Portland shows that 67 arrests were made; 40 drunk and disorderly, 1 assault and battery, 4 fast driving, 3 larceny, 1 running without a license, 1 using abusive language, 1 vagrancy. Crime makes a light showing for the month just past.

A FALSE IMPUTATION.—The reportorial fraternity of Portland, we are certain, will repudiate as false and slanderous the following imputation appearing in the columns of the Salem Record: "A Portland merchant who steadily declined to advertise, because nobody's would see it, recently paid the reporters $5 each to keep his name out of the police reports." Please furnish the name of the merchant; also the names of the reporters who received the fee mentioned. The members of the fraternity in this city certainly had no reason to expect so unjust and ungenerous a reflection from one whom they have ever esteemed as a gentleman-journalist and treated accordingly.

WHARF IMPROVEMENTS.—Owing to the great increase in the freighting business both by steamer and rail, the managers of the O. S. S. Co., have concluded to enlarge their present wharf and warehouse. A large force of men are engaged in digging away the bank just west of the dock. The earth is to be removed down to a point level with the lower floor of the dock when piles will be driven and sawed off at a uniform height on which will be laid the foundation for the new building. The improvement will be 60x75 feet, two stories high, and when completed will greatly augment the wharf accommodations of the company.

DISTINGUISHED CLERICAL VISITOR.—Among the passengers on the incoming steamer we observe the name of Most Rev. Joseph Sadoc Alemany, O. S. D., Archbishop of San Francisco. This distinguished priest has been in precarious health for some time, and the visit is made in the hope of obtaining relief by change of climate and relaxation from arduous ministerial labors. He will remain several weeks in the State visiting different sections of the country. During his sojourn in Portland, Archbishop Alemany will be the guest of Archbishop Blanchet.

QUOTING WOOL.—A correspondent writes and desires to know why wool is not quoted in the OREGONIAN. The correspondent must have failed to examine the paper carefully, or he would have discovered what he desires to see. For the benefit of all our readers we will state that wool, wheat, oats, flour, bacon, eggs, butter, and all other domestic products are quoted regularly. Look carefully, gentlemen, and you will have no occasion to complain.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—We are in receipt of complimentary cards to the dramatic entertainment to be given by the Gervais Amateur Association to-morrow evening. Business engagements prevent any of the OREGONIAN corps from attending. Our correspondent will "write up" the affair.

VERY ILL.—The many friends of Rev. Father Gaudon, officiating Priest at The Dalles, will be pained to learn of his very serious indisposition. This morning Father J. S. White will start for that place, where he goes to take charge of the church at The Dalles during his illness.

LAUNCHED.—Yesterday the O. S. N. Co's. new steamer Annie Faxton was successfully launched from the ways at Celilo. This craft is 165 feet long, 37 feet beam, and 5½ feet hold. She is one of the best boats now owned by the company on the upper river.

BAND OF HELPERS.—The Band of Helpers will meet at the residence of Mrs. Anthony, next door to Taylor street church, this Friday) afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. A full attendance is requested, as business of importance is to come before the meeting.

STEAMER ARRIVED.—By telegraph it is learned that the steamer Geo. W. Elder arrived last evening at Astoria from San Francisco. She will leave Astoria for Portland at three o'clock this morning.

EAST PORTLAND AND VICINITY.

There will be a Sunday School picnic at Mr. Tabor to-morrow, June 2. A pleasant time is anticipated.

Among the latest arrivals in Stephens' Addition is a near relative of our deputy postmaster, Mr. N. P. Tomlinson and wife—it is a daughter.

The public schools of East Portland will close to-day—a month earlier than usual. The teachers are faithful and popular, but more room is wanted for the pupils.

The first potatoes of the season, Early Rose variety, came from the rich bottom land of Mr. John Exon, Columbia Slough. For a sea-faring man Mr. Exon makes a capital farmer.

The only casualty we heard of during the decoration services on Wednesday, was the demolition of Mr. Claude Thayer's buggy by its being run into by one of the Portland hacks.

The Sunday School concert at Lee Chapel on Sunday last was quite successful. H. Ranson, superintendent of East Portland M. E. Sunday school, made an effective address at the close of the exercises.

The delinquent tax list of East Portland city property is now in the hands of Marshal Manning for collection. If taxes are unpaid June 18th the property must be sold at auction. Delinquents, take notice.

Mesdames Sanders, Proudfit, Shaffer, Gordon, Matlock, Knott, Bartlet and Burdin deserve commendable notice for their display of good taste and excellent management in connection with the strawberry festival at Odd Fellows' Hall on Wednesday evening last in aid of the fire company of East Portland.

FESTIVALS.

"Eminently successful," socially and financially, must be the recorded verdict concerning the festival given at Odd Fellows' Hall, East Portland, by the ladies of that municipality, the proceeds of which were donated to Mount Hood Hook and Ladder Company, to be applied toward the purchase of a bell. In fact the degree of success attending the affair far exceeded the anticipations of the most enthusiastic. The attendance was unusually large, the musical exercises were excellent, and there was abundance of those delicacies which so contribute to the "creature comforts," and thus smooth the asperities of life, you know. Everybody came with the determination of having a jolly good time, and a very enjoyable evening was experienced. A large and handsome cake was donated by Mrs. Dr. Hawthorne and Mrs. Joseph. The cake was made in the shape of Mount Hood, beautifully frosted and lettered. The cake was sold first to the highest bidder and brought $11. It was then put up for raffle, and brought $26 50, making the total sum of $37 50 realized. After the festival was over a number of young people remained in the hall and indulged in a social hop. Dancing commenced a little after 12 o'clock, and continued for about one hour and a half, when all dispersed to their homes thoroughly satisfied with the evening's enjoyment. The total sum netted will probably reach $150.

RELIGIOUS MATTERS.

[From the Sentinel.]

Father Herman will celebrate Mass at Mr. T. O'Brien's place, near Beaverton, June 10th.

The band of St. Michael's College will play for the orphans' benefit next Saturday evening.

A large number of children will make their first communion at the Cathedral on Sunday, June 10th next.

The sacraments of confirmation will be administered by His Grace Archbishop Blanchet, at the Cathedral on the second Sunday in June.

During the month of May 46 patients were received at St. Vincent's Hospital in this city. Since the opening of this excellent and useful institution upwards of 700 patients have been received within its portals. There are at present 30 patients under medical treatment.

THE COURTS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.

THURSDAY, May 31, 1877.

Wm. V. Riddle vs E. W. Rhea; motion for judgment on the pleadings disallowed; defendant granted leave to file amended answer; plaintiff given five days in which to reply.

Edwin B. Gager vs A. B. Henry; demurrer to complaint argued and submitted.

United States vs Thomas G. Young; hearing on demurrer to answer continued.

R. H. Lamson's bond as clerk of this court approved.

Court adjourned until next Monday at 10 A. M.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

The ladies should note the fact that Mrs. Ach has engaged a competent dress and cloak maker. See card.

P. Selling has a new announcement this morning. The economical housewife will find it to her advantage to consult the cards issued by Selling. Recollect.

TURKS VS. RUSSIANS.—J. K. Gill & Co. received by mail, last night, a large lot of the very best War Map published. Mailed to any address for 50 cents.

Linen suits cheaper than ever at J. Harris & Son's.

BRIEF NOTES.

Leafy June.

WEEKLY OREGONIAN now ready.

Get your "fixins" for the picnics.

Sensible Advice.

You are asked every day through the columns of newspapers and by your druggist to use something for Dyspepsia and Liver complaint that you know nothing about. You get discouraged spending money with but little success. Now, to give you satisfactory proof that GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER will cure you of Dyspepsia and Liver Complaint, with all its effects, such as sour stomach, Sick Headache, Habitual Costiveness, Palpitation of the Heart, Heart-burn, Water brash, coming up of food after eating, low spirits, &c., we ask you to go to your druggist and get a Sample Bottle of GREEN'S AUGUST FLOWER for 10 cents and try it, or a Regular Size for 75 cents. Two doses will relieve you. Agents, Crane & Brigham, Wholesale Druggists, San Francisco.

LOSS OF THE SAN FRANCISCO.

Further of the Wreck.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—A later dispatch from San Diego confirms previous reports concerning the wreck of the City of San Francisco. The best of order was maintained when the ship struck, the officers and crew attending to their duties as quietly as in ordinary routine of ship's work. When the boats were lowered an officer stood at each to prevent any baggage being put on board and see women and children safely disposed on board. The landing was made at the most favorable point for miles along the shore. A few passengers were slightly bruised in the surf, and one reported to have broken a leg. The weather was intensely hot, thermometer 90°. For provisions there were a few boxes of hard tack, a pig that swam ashore and a little tainted beef. Several of the ship's company were armed with revolvers and stood guard over the passengers during the night. After being put on board the Costa Rica part of her officers did everything to relieve the sufferers, tendering their clothing, money, &c. A meeting of the passengers of the wrecked steamer was held and the following expression of their feelings adopted unanimously:

ON BOARD COSTA RICA, May 21, 1877.

We, passengers on board the late splendid steamship City of San Francisco, wrecked off the coast of Mexico, rendering thanks to Almighty God for our preservation from death desire to express our appreciation of the conduct of Capt. J. I. Waddell and his officers during the fearful ordeal through which we have passed. Capt. Waddell, the last to leave the ship, has proven himself in our judgment calm and self possessed in the hour of danger; brave and prompt in action for the protection and unselfish in providing for our necessities. We shall bear in our hearts a warm affection for the captain and his officers, and the memory of our danger and rescue will ever be a memento of their faithfulness and devotion to duty.

(Signed) MOSES H. SARGENT.

A Very Different Story.

A brief dispatch from San Diego, published by the Post this evening, says that there was no discipline on board; that the ship, after striking a reef, ran in shore. The Chinese crew seized the only two boats available and made off with them, and that the gentlemen got a rope ashore, made it fast, formed a line and passed the women and children through the surf.

In response to a direct inquiry on this point our correspondent, who is a thoroughly reliable journalist, telegraphs as follows: "Have interviewed a large number of respectable passengers, whose statements unanimously concur with what has been sent you. Have heard nothing whatever of the Chinese sailor story. It is undoubtedly false."

Incidents of the Wreck.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 30.—Our San Diego correspondent sends the following additional: Among the incidents of the disaster the following is gleaned from passengers and officers. The perfect coolness of all the men, women and children was extraordinary. Only one instance of a panic occurred; a young man from New York, fearing the ship would sink, leaped overboard, but was rescued and taken into a boat. All the passengers lost more or less money, most of them every penny they possessed. Mrs. Smith, wife of a revenue officer in San Francisco, lost about $8,000. A German, Crip, and his sister from Valparaiso, had between $5,000 and $6,000 in their trunks, a total loss with all their clothing. None of the cabin passengers lost less than $300, and some up to $10,000. Mr. Hahn and wife, of Anaheim, well known in San Francisco who were returning from an European trip, lost all their baggage, which included over $3,000 worth of presents, etc., bought for friends. Dr. Rhein, dentist from New York, lost $1,200 worth of valuable instruments, besides his money. A Chinese servant, after the wreck, placed his little cash in the hands of an officer, saying, you need this more than I. Another Chinaman came to Captain Waddell with the captain's purse, which he had taken from the drawer and saved till on shore. When the Costa Rica arrived at Mazatlan Admiral Murray, of the Pensacola, took Captain Waddell to his private room, and urged upon him quite a large sum of money, saying, pay it when you can; if never, all right. The captain declined the magnificent offer, although reduced to almost penury, but the incident illustrated the characteristics of the two real gentlemen. The following paper, with nearly $500 in cash, was handed to Captain Waddell at Mazatlan:

To Captain Waddell—DEAR SIR: The officers and crew of the U. S. flag ship Pensacola have subscribed $482 50 for distribution by you among the women and children of the wrecked steamer City of San Francisco. Very respectfully yours,

JOHN IRWIN,
Captain, U. S. N.

The theory prevalent among naval officers is that there had been a submarine upheaval at the time of the recent earthquake. The wrecked ship was sailing on a regular course, and, as stated, Capt. Waddell had frequently sailed over the spot where she struck. It was a perfectly bright, clear day, and only a few minutes before the ship struck the Captain had made his log entries, so that there could have been no possible mistake about his position. The captain and officers of the gunboat Mexico, of the U. S. ship Lackawanna, and of the Costa Rica, and others, have carefully scrutinized his observations and are unanimous in their judgment on this point. There is but one opinion, that the commander of the wrecked vessel was using the utmost care, and that human intelligence could not have averted the disaster.

Referring to the earthquake, the observations taken May 10th and 11th by officers of the Lackawanna at Acapulco, are interesting. The following is an extract from the log: Thursday, May 10th, from 8 A. M. to meridian, about 10 o'clock unusual and rapid rise of the water in the harbor occurred; the beach was submerged, the water advancing for some distance into the streets of the town. This phenomena was followed by four similar tidal waves at intervals of about fifteen minutes between each; the water rising and falling in each case three feet excepting the final one, the rise and fall of which was five feet six inches, the ship swinging to each advancing and receding wave. From meridian to 4 P. M. slight tidal waves during the watch at intervals of about twenty minutes between each; ship lying uneasily at anchor, heading from S. S. W. to W. Friday, 11th, from 8 A. M. to meridian, observed a rapid rise and fall of the tide between 11:15 and 11:40, and the second rise about 11:50. From meridian to 4 P. M., five tidal waves were observed, during the watch at irregular intervals, varying from 25 to 30 minutes. Their rise and fall was about two and a half feet.

THE PRIVILEGE OF CREATING PUBLIC DEBT.

CORVALLIS, May 28, 1877.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Recognizing the power and influence of your valuable journal, permit me in addressing you to waive all preliminary apologies. I have carefully read your article, "Our Old-fashioned Protector," in the OREGONIAN of May 24th, in which I find the excellence of one of the great moving forces of government beclouded with doubts and fears, as if the people of this State were not as capable of using the full powers of government as the people of any other State. While fully agreeing with you as to the inconvenience and sometimes impropriety of going into debt, we must recognize the difference and purpose of individual and corporate indebtedness. The first is generally for self, the latter for a people, reaching from one generation to another, and the benefits and advantages grow as the years roll around. Is it, then, the true policy, as we have it, to "pay as you go," that is, for the few public spirited citizens who are inclined to build works of a public necessity for all of this generation, and for those which are to come, and out of their present limited means? Or would it not be better if we had laws which would place these burdens equally upon all persons and property now and hereafter, till a necessary indebtedness shall have been paid? Nor, in the discussion of a question of such magnitude and importance to the people, should we fail to discriminate between indebtedness for a public necessity and an indebtedness caused by corrupt and extravagant officials, and maladministration; for to the latter, more than any other cause, may be attributed the present financial troubles of the State.

In your article you say, "Suppose our constitution had permitted us to run State and counties into debt during the era of speculation six or seven years ago, what would have been the condition of the country now?" This question may be readily answered by an examination of the condition of States using the prerogative withheld from us. For convenience, let us glance at Kansas, and Nebraska. The first has grown up under a rough experience: it answers to "Bleeding," "Starving," "Grasshopper Kansas;" besides this, it has its floods and its storms. Nebraska has her storms, and her grasshoppers, for the last ten years losing nearly two crops out of three. Both of these States have been cursed with the most corrupt and dishonest officials; yet in spite of all these drawbacks, their growth in wealth and population has been wonderful, and show most clearly the value of the laws of our common country, when faithfully applied, by building up in a few years States, soon to be both great and powerful.

But for a more definite idea of the growth of these States, both in population and wealth, reference must be had to the pages of the U. S. census. And, while it will be found these two States have been lavish in creating debts for railroads and other purposes, the experience of the past six years has fully vindicated the wisdom of their policy. For, though the tax for interest for railroads in 1870 was large, the whole tax for all purposes was only from 90 cents to $1 80 per head more than it was in this State; and, since 1870 this railroad tax has been continually diminishing, for it is to-day less by one half than it was five years ago.

If we inquire what those people derived for the burdens of taxation they assumed, we answer, ready markets at all times, higher values to land, made so by the increased value of their products.

Turning to Benton county, with its 1 100 square miles of territory, with its privileges and responsibilities, it will be seen the people of this county have moved none too soon if they seek active growth instead of their past stand-still policy. Give them the railroad they are struggling for and their population will double in five years; and not only this, but the thousands of acres now idle will be brought into cultivation, giving instead of the present insignificant assessment, a valuation for land alone of not much less than five million dollars.

To this purpose and for this end, we do not ask the State to run into debt for this or any other county. We believe these things are best managed where they are best understood by the people, under their organizations of counties, cities or towns. Give this priceless privilege to the people of this State, and with prudent management Oregon will soon be one of the foremost and most desirable States in the Union. CORVALLIS.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

THURSDAY EVENING, May 31, 1877.

Gold in New York, 106⅞.

Legal Tenders in Portland—buying 94; selling, 95.

Silver Coin—1½@5 per cent. discount.

In financial matters strictly, there is a fair degree of activity prevailing without any special change in rates or terms on loans or discounts. But few large transactions are occurring, though the counter business with bankers and others in the lending business is of fair volume. The call from the regular customers of the city banks is said to be somewhat lessening in extent, and capitalists are seeking favorable opportunities for investment. Money, though the market is by no means plethoric, is in ample supply, and borrowers who are able to proffer eligible security find no difficulty in obtaining all needed accommodation.

The general interests of trade are regarded as moderately prosperous, and the volume of shipments of all seasonable goods to points in the interior of this State and to Washington Territory, is quite as large as was anticipated. The prospects of an unusually heavy crop of grain has stimulated a more active trade in agricultural implements than dealers have before enjoyed.

Dry goods and groceries are in very large supply and with a fair number of buyers in the market, dealers are doing a good business, prices being steady with a firm support of the recent advance on some leading staple groceries.

The Wool Market.

The market for breadstuffs being very inactive, provisions dull and very little fruit for export left in the country, the wool trade is now of paramount importance in business circles. There are a number of buyers on hand and growers are able to secure the highest market price for their product. The general condition and quality of receipts, so far this season, are better than in former years, but there are still many sheep owners who appear not to have learned as yet that the price which they can get for wool depends very much on its condition when put on the market, and that all the care which they take in grading and sorting will be more than paid for by its increased value. Even in the matter of folding fleeces but few seem to be skilled, as sheep-owners should be.

The observance of the proper rule in putting up the fleeces, and also the exercise of due care in sorting and keeping separate choice, common and inferior fleeces, will meet with a large reward in the shape of dollars and cents in prices and soon establish even a better reputation for Oregon wool than it now enjoys.

As to the matter of the present quotations the range is wide, and reaches all the way from 15 to 24 cents per lb, though precious little of the Oregon clip can be bought for the minimum figure, the general quality being, we are glad to note, far above inferior.

Groceries.

Wholesale and jobbers' prices for staple groceries are as follows: Coffee 20@21¼ cents per lb; sugars, crushed in bbls, 15c per lb, granulated 14½, Island No. 1, 11@11½, medium 10@10½, No. 2 @9@9¾. Salt, bag $12 per ton, ground rock $14, Liverpool coarse $18, do. fine $22 50@25. Syrups in kegs 82½c per gal., in bbls 75c. Teas, Japan in papers 30@45 cents per lb; Corbitt & Macleay's registered brands, extra choicest 45@47½c, extra fine 35@37½c, Oregon seal 55c. The supply of all staple groceries is quite full and buyers have the greatest varieties from which to make select ons.

WONDERFUL SUCCESS OF DR. P. M. BRENAN

In the Treatment of Chronic Disease.

Positive Proof of his Wonderful Skill.

Testimony that Cannot be Contradicted.

Reliable Witnesses Testifying What he has Done for Them.

Perfect Cures where all other Treatment had Failed.

Crowds Coming from all Parts of the Country to Visit Him.

The Following Certificates Speak for Themselves:

TO DR. PAUL M. BRENAN:

For the past year and a half I have been suffering from Nervous and General Debility, Kidney Disease, Loss of Flesh and Strength, dizziness in the head and a constant pain through the back and loins. I became so debilitated and broken down that I was unfitted for business, I have been to Victoria and 'Frisco over the coast under medical treatment for the past nine months, without receiving any benefit whatever, and had almost given up hopes of ever recovering, until I came under your treatment, about seven weeks ago. From the very first your treatment seemed to work like a charm, and I constantly improved from the begin ning. I have gained 14 pounds of flesh, and I am now, thanks to your skillful treatment, perfectly well, and am able to return to my business on the Snohomish. JAMES KING.

Seattle, March 31, 1877.

To the People: I have been troubled with chronic Nasal Catarrh for years, the disease being so aggravated that there was constantly an effusion of matter passing down into my throat behind the palate and down through my nostrils.

My nose became depressed between the eyes and swollen on each side. I was told by physicians that it was a polypus; that some of the blood vessels were involved and that the removal would endanger my life by hemorrhage. I became so bad that I made up my mind that I must have immediate relief or die.

As a last resort I applied to Dr. Paul M. Brenan, who, after a moment's examination, determined what to do. He said the nasal bone was involved and diseased, and that there would have to be a portion of it removed. He at once removed the bone, also containing the ulcer, also the diseased portion of bone and pancutary gland and cured the catarrh. I am now perfectly well and as free from disease as ever I was in my life.

THOMAS D. MURPHY.

Seattle, April 5th, 1877.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN—Dear Sir: I take great pleasure in stating for the benefit of those who are afflicted with any chronic disease, that I am now a well man. For the past two years I have been under the medical treatment of different physicians, from which I have received no benefit. I have been suffering with general and nervous debility, a difficulty in my stomach, and at times dizziness and severe headache, almost incapacitating me for work. About three weeks ago I put myself under your care, and I can say with delight that I am cured and feel like myself again, after having partaken of your skillful treatment. To me now, labor seems a pleasure. I say this much, hoping it will be the means of attracting the suffering to you who can relieve and cure them.

Your's Truly, JOHN BALLARD,
Employed at Colman's Saw Mill, Seattle.

[I will not publish any cures performed by me unless by the full consent of the parties.]
